Body of slain toddler brought back from US

By Nikkei News

THE BODY of a 2-year-old girl who was stabbed to death by an uncle in a condominium in San Jose, California has been brought back to the Philippines, a statement from the Department of Foreign Affairs said yesterday.

Pagolo arrived last Saturday after she was killed allegedly by her father's brother Emil using a kitchen knife on April 16.

Pagolo's father Enrico remained at his residence when tried to fight it out with Emil to save his daughter.

Enrico, his wife, and three children had just migrated to the United States and had just arrived in San Jose a few weeks before the tragic killing.

Emil's lawyer, public defender Peggy Banks, is studying the possibility of an insanity defense, considering that the suspect has a documented case of insanity. Philippine Consul General Maria Soledad Sanchez in San Francisco said in the statement.

Fetus found in Catholic university

The body of an early-term fetus was found Monday inside the first floor comfort room of the biology building of St. Bernard University in Sanpalo, Manila.

The fetus, which is approximately to be 3 to 4 months old, was wrapped in a pink plastic bag when janitor Micky Perez discovered it at about 9:30 a.m. while she was clearing the toilets.

She immediately informed the president of the school's Jean of Arc Nursing Students Association, Andrea Feliciano who, in turn, called the police. Students, faculty and administration staff were shocked following the incident, primarily because of the school's reputation of being a premiere Catholic university.

According to police, the fetus could have been left by a student or a member of the university's personnel. Emilda Nepomuceno, SJ, Dean of the College of Nursing of St. Bernard University has expressed the school's full cooperation in the investigation.

There is a growing concern that the current system of funding for research is not sustainable. The current system of funding for research is based on a system of grants and contracts, which is often criticized for being too fragmented and inefficient. There is a need for a more integrated and sustainable system of funding for research.

Monthly complete

But the new study is consistent with the previous one. It's an early, preliminary work with only 100 subjects, and it's not clear how well the findings will hold up in a larger study. Still, the results are promising.

Letter to the Editor

The village was quiet after the previous day's party, a small, dark crowd moving down the highway, some carrying lanterns, others with flashlights, and a few with cameras. The night was dark, and the road was wet, reflecting the lights of the cars and the street lamps. The crowd was small, but it was a sight to see, a reminder of the life and activity of the village.

By looking at the data, we can see that the number of people who are unemployed is increasing. This is a problem for the economy, and it is important to find ways to create more jobs. One way to do this is by investing in education and training. This will help people learn new skills and become more competitive in the job market. Another way is by supporting small businesses, which are often the source of new jobs. By taking these steps, we can help to reduce unemployment and create a stronger economy.

Effect prices of basic goods

By Norred W. Domingo

THE RECENTLY approved power rate hike of the National Power Corp. will have no immediate and serious impact on the prices of basic goods and prime commodities, according to the Department of Trade and Industry.

Napocor has announced that it will increase rates by an average of 36.75 centavos a kWh. The new rates will be reflected in the May billing of its clients.

In turn, the Manila Electric Co., Napocor's biggest customer, will pass on the increase in rates and charge its customers an additional 23 to 22 centavos.

The higher rates will be reflected in the June billing of end-consumers.

Trade Secretary Juan B. Sanana said that based on the latest analysis of the DTI's Bureau of Trade Regulation and Consumer Protection, power rate consisted only up to 2.8 percent of the total production component of most manufactured products.

"Due to such small cost of production attributed to electricity costs, any impact on retail prices will be hardly felt," Sanana said.

"(S)hould there be an impact, it would only take effect later than when the increased rates appear on the monthly bill," he said. "Retailers should replenish their existing inventory at current prices."

In a related development, Subic Bay Electric Corp., the power utility serving the Subic freepoint area, yesterday said that its customers would pay 10 centavos less per kilowatt-hour after it successfully cut its systems loss by half to an average of 7.87 percent starting last March.

the results of the study were not statistically significant. The authors conclude that the results of the study are inconclusive and that further research is needed to determine the effect of the intervention on the health of the population.

The author, who writes Planes, Trains and Automobiles, says that he never had the opportunity to tell his story before.

Opposites attract

For 40 years, the Journal of Management Education has been a leading journal in the field of management education. It is now the only journal in the field to be published by a non-profit organization, the American Management Education Association (AMEA). The journal is published quarterly and is available to all members of the AMEA. The journal is a must-read for all those interested in management education.

Destined to meet

By Karen Davidson

When I was a young girl, I was always a fan of the show Star Trek. I remember watching the show every week and being in awe of the characters and the world they lived in. I was always fascinated by the idea of space exploration and the possibility of finding life on other planets.

Author's son, Nathan, and his friend, who is also a fan of the show, posing for a photo.

Availability of the right to work, the right to life, the right to health, and the right to a decent standard of living are the basic rights of every human being. But for the 1.2 billion women and girls who are victims of violence, these rights are often denied.

In many parts of the world, women and girls are still being treated as property. They are often sold into marriage or forced into prostitution. They are often being sold into slavery. They are often being sold into sex trafficking. They are often being sold into forced labor. They are often being sold into organ trafficking. They are often being sold into...

They are often being sold into... They are often being sold into... They are often being sold into... They are often being sold into... They are often being sold into...
